Course design

The Bachelor of Property Valuation is a three-year qualification that prepares graduates for work as a Valuer in a range of contexts across national and international residential, commercial and public sector property. This qualification provides graduates with a rigorous body of property valuation knowledge. Learning outcomes support the acquisition of skills that underpin professional practice and life-long learning in the property valuation industry. Graduates are equipped with the knowledge and skills needed to meet the requirements of an ever changing global property economy.

The Bachelor of Property Valuation was designed to address recent regulatory changes that require Valuation professionals to hold a relevant bachelor degree. Arrangements have been made for graduates of vocational property valuation programs to enter the degree with credit transfer enabling them to meet current Australian Property Institute (API's) membership requirements for degree-qualified Certified Practising Valuer (CPV).

Course learning outcomes

Graduates of the Bachelor of Property Valuation will:

- operate professionally using extensive body of valuation knowledge drawn from the study of building and the built environment; property legislation; ongoing court determinations; economic, political and market intelligence and ethical financial and business practice
- be able to independently engage in self-directed professional learning and development projects with the capacity to solve problems, reflect critically on judgements, evaluate own work effectively and adapt to change
- have the oral, written and visual communication skills to communicate professionally as a valuer with the capacity to articulate, critique and defend judgement and decisions
- promote ongoing professional development and life-long learning, the foundations of valuation practice, allowing for their transferability across diverse national and international contexts
- be ethical and responsible practitioners, considerate of cultural, traditional, local, national and international requirements.
